From a user journey perspective, this will pop open when someone clicks on 'Celebrate'. It will say:

Thanks for celebrating the win! Are you inspired?

Add section for the Tweet mentions

Once we have information fields to store Twitter handles of the recipients in the markdown files and identified uniquely, we can pull all their Tweets on the winner landing page, which will give something for users to follow and make the Follow button useful.

Note: For March release, we are only including tweet mentions, later we can mention others such as press releases, etc and specific tabs/sections can be added for those mentions.
